Personal Statement

Growing up in Japan as a cradle Orthodox Christian, I have always been aware of the significance of our Orthodox faith and its impact on the community at large. Even before I married my husband and became a clergy wife, I was deeply committed to our Orthodox Faith, to the work of the Church, and to helping us do our very best to "be the Church" in this land. My work since then has continued along this path. I have been involved at the national level of our Clergy Wives Ministry. I also take great care in actively supporting the pastoral work of my husband, a priest of the Diocese of the Midwest. Drawing from these experiences, I would bring to the Metropolitan Council important multiple perspectives: I care deeply about the clergy and clergy families. I also care about lay ministry -- and the many ways men and women can help our clergy to foster healthy missional communities. I believe that, drawing from a lifetime of experiences as an Orthodox Christian living in Japan, in Canada, and across several states here in the USA, I would bring much to the table as a future member of the Metropolitan Council.
